Insurance Issues

- For a 50-state review of business interruption insurance related issues see this new COVID-19 Insurance Litigation and Regulatory Issues Tracker. The tracker is updated weekly. (last update 4/26/20)
- On April 24, the Florida Office of Insurance Regulation Commissioner reportedly informed a committee of the Governor's Re-Open Florida Task Force that while all business interruption policies are written differently, most will not provide coverage for losses related to the COVID-19 pandemic.
- On April 24, the Michigan House Insurance Committee introduced Bill 5739, which if passed would mandate that any "insurer that delivers, issues for delivery, or renews in this state a business interruption policy shall include in the business interruption insurance policy coverage for business interruption due to the novel coronavirus (COVID-19). The bill further provides that coverage under the section "must indemnify the insured . . . for any loss of business or business interruption for the duration of the declaration of state of emergency under Executive Order No. 2020-04." The bill would apply to any policy effective on the date the bill were to be passed, provided that the insured has less than 100 full-time employees. The Michigan bill follows similar bills introduced in Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Rhode Island, Louisiana, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Ohio. Note that New Jersey's bill was pulled from consideration prior to the General Assembly vote.
- Litigation relating to business interruption coverage in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic and related civil authority orders contains unabated. Dozens of lawsuits have been filed against insurers in both state and federal courts. These lawsuits consist of both declaratory judgment actions seeking clarification as to whether policy terms will cover COVID-19 related business interruption claims as well as actions seeking damages for breach of insurance contract and bad faith. Notably, there has been a stark increase in the number of class action lawsuits filed. Meanwhile, at least two insurers—Travelers and First Community Insurance Co.—have filed suit against insureds seeking a declaration that it does not have an obligation to pay COVID-19 related business interruption claims. Finally, several plaintiffs including LH Dining LLC and Newchops Restaurant Comcast LLC have asked the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation to establish an MDL to consolidate nationwide COVID-19 related business interruption coverage lawsuits. Notable filings include: (updated 4/28/2020)

- On April 24, First Community Insurance Co. filed suit against its insured in Florida state court seeking a declaratory judgment that it is not required to provide coverage for loss of business income resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic.
- On April 24, Bilrite Furniture, Inc. initiated a purported class action in the United States District court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin against its insurer, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Plaintiff seeks damages for alleged breach of contract and a declaratory judgment that confirms whether the civil authority closure orders trigger business interruption coverage or civil authority coverage. Plaintiff seeks to represent both a nationwide class and a Wisconsin subclass. The case is Bilrite Furniture v. Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, No.2:20-cv-00656 (E.D. Wis.)
- On April 27, Zwilllo V. Corp dba Westport Flea Market Bar & Grill initiated a purported class action in the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri against its insurer Lexington Insurance Co., alleging that the insurer wrongfully denied Plaintiffs' and class members' claims for business interruption coverage relating to certain "stay at home" orders. Plaintiff seeks to represent nationwide declaratory judgment, injunctive relief, and breach of contract classes as well as a Missouri subclass. The case is Zwilllo V. Corp. v. Lexington Insurance, No. 4:20-cv-339 (W.D. Mo.).
